Phipps Neighborhoods is a multi-service nonprofit providing opportunities for children, youth, and families to break the cycle of poverty and achieve long-term self-sufficiency. We work in South Bronx neighborhoods where we can address the greatest barriers to lasting success. Our Theory of Change advances the idea that the most critical programs needed in order to systemically address poverty are; Education, Career Development and Community Resources. Programming is asset-based, neighborhood-focused, data-driven, culturally competent, and targeted in neighborhoods where we can provide the greatest amount of support to the community.

Phipps Neighborhoods serves approximately 12,000 children, teens and adults in our three program areas. Our cradle to college and career approach supports programs from Pre-K through college, including Community Schools, After School, youth organizing, mentoring and civic engagement. Career Development programs include sector based training for in-school and out-of-school youth, summer jobs and internship opportunities. Community Resources offers benefits access, financial counseling, adult education and supportive housing for youth aging out of foster care and adults with mental health challenges. We work closely with stakeholders including government, businesses, philanthropic partners, and other community partners to employ a structured approach toward creating shared goals to achieve significant and lasting social change and help individuals thrive in every aspect of their lives.
