Resident Advocate

Logan Gardens | New York, NY

CATCH is a non-profit housing developer, with affordable housing residential buildings located throughout New York City. We seek a full-time, on-site Resident Advocate to join the management team at Logan Gardens in Upper Manhattan. The ideal candidate has education and/or experience in social work or human services. More specifically, the Resident Advocate will link older adults and people with disabilities to supportive services and other community resources and will spark a sense of community in the building.

The Role:

- Help residents age in place and remain living independently in their own homes
- Advocate for adequate, timely and cost-effective provision of services
- Assess service needs of residents and link them to the appropriate providers and community resources
- Assist residents with applications for benefits and entitlement programs
- Facilitate programs and services such as health and wellness, or transportation
- Develop a resource directory of local social service agencies and providers
- Other related duties as assigned

You're a great candidate if you:

- Are fluent in English and Spanish (strongly preferred)
- Have 1-2 years of related experience
- Enjoy working with elderly and disabled populations

Why work with us?

- Compensation is commensurate with experience | 45k-55k salary range
- Comprehensive health insurance plans
- Generous paid leave, including sick time, vacation days, and personal days
- You enjoy having agency over your workflow, with minimal supervision
- We encourage innovation and new ways of doing things. Your ideas are welcome!
